

Sir Andy Haines

London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine - UK

Professor of Environmental Change and Public Health with a joint appointment in the Dept of Public Health, Environments and Society and in the Dept of Population Health at the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine.

He was a member of a number of major international and national committees including the MRC Global Health Group (chair) and the MRC Strategy Group. He was the chair of the Universities UK Health and Social Care Policy Committee and a member of the WHO Advisory Committee on Health Research.

His current research interests are the study of environmental influences on health, including the potential effects of climate change and the health co-benefits of the low carbon economy. He is currently involved in Wellcome Trust funded research on severe heat stress exposure under climate change, sustainable diets /food systems and healthy sustainable cities.